- Self-reflection and collective learning with a rich network of people interested in power and complexity
- A Barefoot Guide writeshop experience - a collective, creative and disciplined method to reflect, learn & document stories that are worth sharing
- The opportunity to bring home a written and deepened story for you to share with the world
- Be mentioned as one of the co-creators of the final publication
- 10 free copies of the publication to spread our perspectives on power in systems change.

Together we will select a rich and diverse set of stories to be included in our second collective publication.

Want to join?

To reserve your spot, please confirm your attendance before March 15 via the link in the mail. You will receive an invoice for the costs.

You bring:

- Your experience & stories about how you navigate power in systems change, for example about how you experience power in your work, which forms of power you see or how you use power
- Your deepened understanding on working in complex settings
- Your energy, open mind and eagerness to learn together through writing.

Costs

- You pay a contribution of €500 (€450 for Perspectivity members) to cover the costs of location, food & beverages for a two-day workshop including one overnight stay in a double room in Villa Buitenlust, professional editing and part of the publication costs (i.e. graphic design, professional images and printing).
- To cover additional production costs, we will launch a crowdfunding campaign on CoBudget. You are invited to join the bucket!

We cheerfully donate our time for the design, organisation & facilitation of this writeshop and we look forward to our journey together!
